

WdKA-PZI and English Language Test

Some applicants for the WdKA-PZI Master Design have to do an English Language Test.

Who doesn't need a language test

Applicants whose previous education is demonstrably taught entirely in English and has been obtained in the following countries: USA, Canada (with the exception of the French-speaking regions), Australia, New Zealand, Ireland and the United Kingdom, are exempted from the English language requirement.

Dutch applicants, who completed their education in the Netherlands are also exempted from the English language requirement.

Who needs a language test

Applicants who completed their preparatory education in a country other than the countries described above will be required to meet the English language requirement.

Which language tests can be done

To do so, these applicants are required to take one of the following English language tests and the positive results should be in the application:

- * IELTS at level 6.0 (academic)
- * TOEFL paper-based test at level 550
- * TOEFL computer based test at level 213
- * TOEFL internet-based test at level 80
- * Cambridge CAE: C 180-184 | FCE: A 180-184 & B 176-179

Applicants have to arrange and pay for the test themselves. They must ensure that their test results are submitted to the Rotterdam University's Student Service Centre (SSC) and are uploaded in our online application tool before the final deadlines.

Please note: arranging one of these English language tests can take up to several months. We strongly advise our students to book and take the test as early as possible.

TOEFL and IELTS test scores are valid for two years.

Institutional code for TOEFL and IELTS

If the TOEFL or IELTS organisations request an institutional code from you, please use the code of Rotterdam University:

- * For TOEFL this is 7140
- * For IELTS this is 7045

Extra information

If you've got any doubts about this, please contact us at wdka.masterdesign@hr.nl